

Terms of Service

By inviting Calliope to your discord server you agree that you have read, understood, and accepted these terms. You are also responsible for informing the members in your discord server about these terms. If you do not agree with any of these terms, you are prohibited from using or adding any version of Calliope to your server.

Disclaimer

You are strictly prohibited to use Calliope against the ToS of discord or for illegal purposes. We are doing our best to prevent these activities while trying to provide the best user experience as possible. If you find people or communities using Calliope against the ToS of discord or even for illegal activities, please send us an email to calliope@lostanddead.co.uk

Proprietary Rights

We own and retain all rights for public available data (including but not limited to statistics data). We grant you the permission to use this available data for your own needs, but strictly disallow any commercial use. You therefore shall not sell, license or otherwise commercialize the data or services provided except if the permission was expressly granted to you.

Availability

- Calliope is provided as-is. There are no guarantees that it will be available in the future, and its purpose or availability may be changed at any time.
- User-related data including statistics, configuration, and playlists may be deleted at any time.
- User-related data including backups are non-transferable between discord accounts.
- Access to all or specific features of Calliope may be revoked, for all or a specific user, at any time.

Storage of Data

User-related data including but not limited to statistics, configuration, and request history is stored in a secure database. In the event of unauthorized Data access, users will be notified through the Calliope Discord server (<https://discord.gg/MX9t8f856g>)

User Rights

At any time any user of Calliope's services may request all data pertaining to their Discord account or Discord server if sufficient data can be provided to prove ownership, You can submit a request through the Calliope Discord server (<https://discord.gg/MX9t8f856g>)

Data Usage

Access to Calliope's data is only permitted to the development team and only in the scope request for the development, testing, implementation, and monitoring of Calliope. No data is sold, provided to or shared with any third party except where required by law.